

DID YOU KNOW?

Nature Conservancy Law

Aruba's flora and fauna are protected by a State Ordinance Nature Conservancy (Dutch: Natuurbeschermingsverordening) enacted as of 1995 and amended in 2017. This means that in no way, shape or form is one permitted to cause (intentional) damage to the flora and fauna mentioned in this provision.

The animals protected by this law include:

LAND	SEA	AIR
Striped Anole (Toteki) Rattlesnake (Cascabel) Iguana Baker's cat-eyed snake (Santanero) Frog Rabbit	Dolphin Whale Turtle Giant Sea Turtle (Drikil) Manta ray Conch (Calco) Starfish (Strea di lama) Lobster (Kreft) Hammerhead Shark (Tribon Martieu) Atlantic Bluefin Tuna	Parakeet (Prikichi) Burrowing Owl (Shoco) Crested Bobwhite (Patrishi) Bare eyed pigeon (Blauwduif) Flamingo Crested Caracara (Warawara) Bats (Raton di anochi)

For more information and the complete list, please refer to <https://www.overheid.aw>